To the student

Do you work in business and use English in your job? Or are you a business student? Whatever your background, if you need to improve your business English, the tests in this book will help. They will check your knowledge of basic business words and essential business expressions so that you can understand and communicate more effectively and confidently.

There are eight sections in the book. The first section tests your ability to talk about yourself and your role: to say who you are and what you do. The other seven sections each cover a different area of business – from organization and different areas of business-to-business language and communication. You can work through the book from beginning to end, or you can work first on the tests which are most important to you.

Many tests also have tips (advice) on language and language learning, and information about business. Do read these explanations and tips: they are there to help you.

To make the book more challenging and more fun, many different kinds of test are used, including gap-filling, word families, multiple choice and crosswords. There is a key at the back of the book so that you can check your answers; and a word list to help you revise key vocabulary.

Your vocabulary is an essential resource for effective communication. It is important to remember that the more words you know, the more you can say and the more you can understand. These tests can help you check what you know and develop your knowledge of new concepts and terms in a structured and systematic way. This book can help you significantly increase your business vocabulary.

In some cultures, people exchange business cards at the beginning of a meeting or a visit. In others, they do it at the end of the meeting. In some cultures, people present their business cards with one hand. In others, they present the card with two hands. In some cultures, business cards are usually white. In others, they can be multi-coloured. What information do you have on your card? What colour is it? When do you give it to another person? Do you know people who do things differently?

12 Grades

SECTION 2

Square Hole Engineering Inc. has four white-collar grades and four blue-collar grades. Write the names of all eight grades in the list, from the top (1) to the bottom (8).

clerical grades junior management middle management semi-skilled grades senior management skilled grades supervisory grades unskilled grades

White-collar grades

1	senior management

5
6
7
8

Blue-collar grades

There are eight layers or levels in the organization chart of this company. A company with only a few levels has a flat organization. A company with a lot of levels is often very hierarchical because decisions have to travel through several layers.

White-collar workers often work in offices, banks, etc. They work in management or administration.

Blue-collar workers often work with their hands, for example on the production line in a factory.

13 The organization chart

SECTION 2

Read this short presentation of the management team of this British company. Then write the correct letters (a–n) in the right places in the organization chart.

At the top of the company, the Chairman of the Board [a] is responsible to the shareholders and the day-to-day running is the responsibility of the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) [b], who also has a seat on the Board. Five directors form the senior management committee of the company. Going from left to right on the organization chart, we start with the Director of Finance [c], who runs his division with his Deputy [d]. Then we have the Director of Operations [e], who is responsible for production and logistics. The Factory Manager [f] answers directly to him. Next we have the Director of Marketing [g], who is also responsible for sales so the National Sales Manager [h] reports to him on the activities of the whole sales team, which is divided into two regions, north and south, each managed by a regional sales manager [i; j]. The Director of Human Resources [k] has a Training and Development Manager [l] and a Compensation and Benefits Manager [m], who look after the day-to-day running of her department.

Finally, the Director of Research and Development [n] runs a small but important division of the company. She too reports directly to the CEO.

14 Departments

SECTION 2

The organization is in trouble. Match the problems (a-l) with the correct departments (1-12).

Learning single words is not enough. Learning word families like these will help you build better sentences, understand better how individual words work and speak better English. Always look for word families when you read and listen to English.

People use mind maps as a learning tool, to remember vocabulary and to brainstorm ideas. In language learning, you can use a mind map to remember which words go together. Put one word (for example a verb: manage) in the central circle and then show other words (for example nouns: project, team) which often go with it. You can then add adjectives which go with the nouns (for example: difficult, challenging) and so on! People with visual memories find mind maps especially helpful.
